This nuclear rocket engine has been tested under the Rover program. President Johnson asked Congress for money to begin the development of a nuclear powered rocket engine, "The Rover." The engine is powerful enough to carry a space vehicle to "any planet," officials said. (AP Wirephoto)

Educators March On Capitol

Romney Put On Hot Spot By Protest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LANSING (AP) —Educators and parents march on the Michigan Capitol today to demand more money for public schools.

About 1,500 education leaders, teachers and parents, backed by petitions signed by 200,000 others, were set to ask legislators for more school money than Gov. George Romney's budget provides.

"We go with love in our heart but blood in our eye," said Mrs. Jane Tate, president of Detroit's Council of Parent-Teacher Associations. "On performance thus far, the governor flunks the test."

Romney's success with his Michigan programs this year is expected to seriously affect his chances of winning the 1968 Republican nomination for president.

ROUGH SLEDDING

Some Democrats in the Legislature talk openly of untracking his presidential hopes by scuttling his program, and indications up to now are that his tax bills are in for a rough ride.

Republicans control the Legislature, but only by a thin margin—19-17 in the Senate and with a 55-55 split in the House.

The Detroit Free Press, in a recent poll, said Romney's bills were doomed without help from Democrats, and Democratic party leaders quickly responded: He won't get it.

But education groups, Mrs. Tate said, intend to "make it politically possible for legislators to do what they know must be done."

Romney's program calls for a personal income tax of 2½ per cent, a corporate income tax of 5 per cent and an 8 per cent levy on financial institutions.

Two earlier Legislatures, one controlled by Democrats and one by the GOP, defeated Romney efforts to set up a state income tax. Romney says approval of the plan this time is necessary to keep Michigan's ledgers out of the red.

"Unless the fiscal reform measures are approved, we will have to cut back services," Romney said.

AUSTERITY DRIVE?

His $1.2 billion budget, biggest in Michigan history, is billed as an austerity drive among state programs and provides $955 million for the state's schools.

"The education money is $70 million more than 1966-67 expenditures for schools, but only enough to cover added expenses due to increased enrollments and other factors, educators complain.

The budget also makes no change in the state's per pupil education expenditure.

Walter C. Averill Jr., president of the Michigan Association of School Boards, has indicated educators may seek even bigger taxes than the ones Romney has proposed.

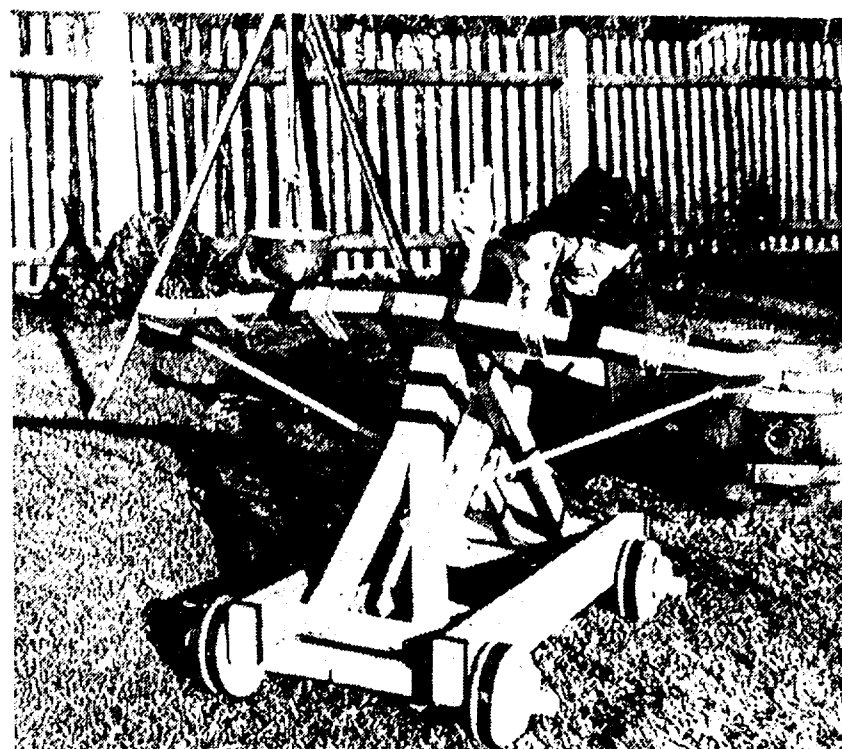

"We're going to have less money per child to operate on in terms of total state aid even if the fiscal reform program proposed by the governor gets approved," he said. "We intend to ask legislators for support of an enlarged program over Romney's."

U.S. Weapons Kill 150 Cong In Zone C

Reds Maul American Unit In 6-Hour Battle

From Associated Press

American planes and artillery killed more than 150 Viet Cong in War Zone C in Vietnam after the Communists badly mauled a company of the U.S. Infantry Division, the U.S. military command reported today.

The six-hour battle Tuesday was the biggest to date in the week-old Operation Junction City, a 45,000-man U.S. squeeze on the Communist jungle stronghold near the Cambodian border. The company of 178 American infantrymen suffered heavy casualties, meaning it is no longer an effective fighting force until it receives replacements.

A North Vietnamese lieutenant captured by Korean troops said the failure of the lunar new year truce to produce peace negotiations has put "Viet Cong morale at an all-time low."

"LONG FOR PEACE"
"Night and day the Viet Cong long for peace," said Lt. Truong Hiep, a platoon leader with the 3rd Company, 85th "Independence" Battalion, a Viet Cong main-force element.

"They had high hopes for negotiation. Now they know they cannot win without direct help from Russia or Red China," he said.

Lawton Boy Accused In Girl's Death

Aided Abortion, Authorities Charge
PAW PAW — A Lawton youth has been charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of a Paw Paw girl on Jan. 23.

Mark Wagner, 17, of 110 Third street, Lawton, was arraigned yesterday on charges in connection with the death of Edna Grudecki, 17, of Oak street, Paw Paw. Her body was found at her home the afternoon of Jan. 23 by her stepfather when he returned from work.

Wagner was arrested after a detailed investigation by State Police Det. Sgt. William Menzies and village Police Chief Grant Root.

Wagner faces charges which allege that he "aided and abetted in the commission of an abortion."

Van Buren prosecutor Donald Goodwillie, Jr., said that both charges are commonly referred to as manslaughter.

Wagner was arraigned yesterday afternoon before Justice David Smith of Paw Paw and demanded examination on the charges. He was released to the custody of his attorney, William Clement, pending the preliminary examination.

Dutch Cage Victory Is Real Blast

License Blown Off Team Bus

The happy "charge" experienced last night by the victorious Holland Dutch on the basketball court was countered by an unwanted blast outside.

While the Dutch were bombing Benton Harbor's Tigers in the first round of tournament play, someone was blowing the rear license plate from their team bus.

Driver Lee Schaedelle of Holland told Patrolman Sam Watson, Jr., the rear license plate had been blown from the bus, parked behind Benton Harbor high school. He reported the incident at 8:34 p.m.

Schaedelle told Watson he was inside the bus when he saw a bright light flash in the rear. He did not hear a detonation.

Watson said the license plate had been blown nearly 10 feet from the bus and had been bent badly. A small hole also had been blown in the bus body near the plate bracket. Watson said the type of explosive used has not been determined, but small fragments found at the scene looked like part of a firecracker.

600,000 COVERED

The full program would cover an estimated 600,000 of Michigan's poor who are public welfare recipients and those unable to afford medical treatment without hardship.

Get-out threats erupted from nursing home proprietors upon receipt of a letter postmarked last Friday. It told them they must submit income, expense and balance sheets for last year by March 15 or that the state would pay no more than $8.50 per patient day.

Houston said his Department of Social Services needed the data to work out a sliding scale formula, adding "Nursing homes fit all kinds of standards and the state should pay according to what it's getting."

Houston said whatever formula was decided upon would be retroactive to March 1.

UP TO $14
The state now pays from $8.50 to $12.50, with $14 applying in two counties, for each patient's care per day. Private and medicare patients pay more.

Carl Tuggle, association executive director, said nursing home owners had submitted a formula under which compensation would range from $10 to $14.68 and average $12.50.

Mash said the association had asked Houston for another 45 days to negotiate with the state. Houston refused.

May Effect 14,000 In State

Feud Centers On Medicaid Finance Data

By A.F. MAHAN

DETROIT (AP) — About 14,000 indigent, aged persons are threatened with loss or higher cost of nursing home care in Michigan because of a dispute between independent nursing home operators and the state. Involved is the state's demands for income, expense and balance sheets of the nursing homes.

Joseph Mash, president of the Michigan Nursing Home Association, says more than 200 of the state's 441 nursing homes have served notice that as of today they will refuse to accept patients or charge rates higher than the state allows.

Lloyd R. Johnson, operator of convalescent homes in Farmington, Novi and Ann Arbor, sent a telegram Monday to R. Bernard Houston, director of the State Department of Medical Services. It said:

"Please remove the names of the 41 patients covered by Medicaid in our three nursing homes. We are notifying families they must remove the patients or pay our regular rates starting March 1."

Johnson, past president of the association, estimated 14,000 are receiving state Medicaid care in nursing homes, with the remainder of 23,000 beds utilized by federal Medicare or private patients.

IN TROUBLE
Medicaid was in trouble even before the latest flareup. It went into effect last Oct. 1. The Legislature appropriated $21 million for it.

As costs quickly ate through the Legislature's appropriation, Gov. George Romney ordered the program limited only to those already on state welfare rolls; that payment for doctors and medicine, scheduled to go into effect last Jan. 1, be held back temporarily and that dental and other assistance due to be effective April 1 be held back indefinitely.

Even after Romney's cutback order, an $18-million supplemental appropriation was needed. Then Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley ruled Romney overstepped his authority in ordering the cutback.

Budget Director Glenn Allen said the attorney general's ruling meant another $24 million would be required for the current fiscal year. The Republican controlled Senate quickly passed a bill encompassing Romney's cutback order. It now is in the House, divided 55 Democrats and 55 Republicans.

Police See Eerie Thing Over Lake

Ottawa, Allegan Officers Report

GRAND HAVEN (AP) —An eerie, glowing object was reported in the sky over Lake Michigan Tuesday night by six sheriff's men and several other persons.

"It wasn't the normal thing you see in the sky," said Ottawa County Sheriff Bernard Grysen. He said he watched an object for "five or 10 minutes" on the lakeshore about 10 miles south of Muskegon.

"It was really bright off-white with a small amount of red and green," he said. "Because of the brightness it was hard to determine the shape, but I figured it looked perfectly round."

"It hovered, then went to another spot, then moved up and down," Grysen said. The object finally moved north, he said.

Grysen discounted the possibility of a helicopter or an airplane. "There was no noise," he said. And I was close enough to have heard any noise if there was any."

Other reports of the object came from Grysen's wife, Angie; five Ottawa County sheriff's deputies; and nine persons who called the sheriff's office.

A sheriff's deputy from nearby Allegan County also reported seeing a bright object.

"He figured it was an exceptionally bright star," said a sheriff's office spokesman. "It was bright, but it didn't move, so he didn't pay any more attention to it."

'LINE OF DUTY' Stork's Helpers Get Box Of Cigars

It may have been in the line of duty (sort of) for Berrien sheriff's deputies, but at least they found out it was appreciated. The traditional box of cigars showed up at the sheriff's department yesterday, along with a baby picture and a note saying "Thanks Fella's—Ben, Irene and Jimmy Praeger." It was another of those "Winter of '67" stories. Jimmy was almost ready to take a look at the world Feb. 24, but it wasn't ready for him. His parents were snow-bound behind a quarter mile of deep drifts between their home and the hospital.

Deputies were called and they hauled down a Blossomland Waterproofing snowplow. The plow chopped out a path from Cleveland avenue to the Praeger home, 1861 Edison drive and everyone made it to the hospital on time. Jimmy, all 6 pounds 8½ ounces of him, arrived at 3:01 a.m. Feb. 25. He makes the return trip from the hospital today.

Look Out! Crazy Month Is Here

March came in like a lamb today—a very chilled lamb. Temperatures plunged to lows of 12-below zero in various parts of southwestern Michigan early this morning, before heading up into forecast highs in the 40s this afternoon. Except for the bitter cold of early morning, the day had all the appearances of sunny, pleasant winter day. The Weather Bureau predicted temperatures would rise well above the freezing point both today and Thursday, dipping only to 24 to 30 tonight.

A low of 12-below was reported at the Sodus Experiment farm by Arnold Hafer, farm foreman and observer for the Weather Bureau's agricultural weather reporting network. A similar reading was reported at Paw Paw, and an unofficial -15 was recorded at Hartford. Other lows varied from 5-above on the News-Palladium recording thermometer in Benton Harbor to 8 and 10 below in areas away from the lake. An even zero was measured at Radio Station WHFB in Fairplain.

The Crime Report

The impact of the report of the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice might have been greater had not Johnson borrowed so liberally from it in preparing his February 6 message on crime.

Despite this reversal of customary procedure, the report offers a useful commentary that is causing increasing concern among Americans.

The commission makes proposals for upgrading police methods and personnel, for improving prosecution and judicial procedures, for expanding scientific research in crime and adopting new techniques and advanced equipment.

Less persuasive is the commission's analysis of the causes of crime, among which it gives top place to poverty and the conditions of slum life. There has always been poverty, but there has not always been so much crime.

Millions do not break the law even though they are poor and many crimes, among them embezzlement, forgery and fraud, are not usually committed by slum dwellers. Moreover, crime is increasing in the slum-free suburbs.

The commission seems to overlook the simple need for more policemen. One of the more effective deterrents to crime has always been the presence of the uniformed foot patrolman. This was demonstrated on the New York subway system, where crime was reduced nearly 60 per cent after the Transit Authority put policemen on every train and in every station at night.

The commission calls for better cooperation from the public but, as was President Johnson, it is oddly silent about the need for better cooperation from the courts.

This omission brought a supplementary statement from seven of the commission's 19 members. Complaining that recent Supreme Court decisions had tilted the balance of justice too far in favor of defendants, the minority, which included three past presidents of the American Bar Association, called for a constitutional amendment to permit police interrogation, with safeguards against abuse, and to permit the admission of voluntary confessions even if given by persons who had not been warned of their right to remain silent.

Concern for the rights of accused persons, the minority asserted, should be balanced by a "like concern for the rights of citizens to be free from criminal molestation . . . The victims of crime have been the forgotten men of our society."

The constitutional amendment the minority proposes will win increasing support if the judiciary continues to appear oblivious to the rising incidence of crime.

Can a doctor tell if a small lump in the breast is cancerous only by examination?

When the doctor examines the breast of a patient he takes into consideration many factors. The age of a woman, the time of her menstrual cycle, hormone imbalances and the possibility of the early change of life.

It is that the female breasts undergo changes at different times of the month and may later return to normal. Pregnancy certainly alters the size, shape and the firmness of breasts.

Cystic changes of the breasts and small lumps may be the result of temporary or prolonged hormone deficiency. Bleeding from the nipple associated with the lump has special meaning to the doctor.

Very often the physician comes to a mental conclusion as to whether a growth is benign (noncancerous) or malignant (cancerous). At no time does he guess at the final diagnosis of such an important condition. If he is at all suspicious about the nature of the growth he can do a number of tests to help him come to an accurate conclusion.

A remarkable and rather new method is being used to X-ray the breasts. This is called mammography and, to those highly trained in its use, very early troublesome tumors can be located long before they give the slightest symptoms. This method is safe and accurate in many cases.

Sometimes a needle is painlessly injected into the breast tumor removing a small amount of tissue for microscopic study. In more suspicious cases a larger piece of tissue can be removed under local anesthesia and sent to the laboratory for detailed information about the nature of the growth. This is called a biopsy. A physician uses some or all of the tests that are now available to reach a conclusion so vital to the health of his patient.

Can mushrooms of the ordinary household variety cause intestinal troubles because of any poison they may contain?

Let me immediately clarify what seems to be confusion in your question. The household mushroom is never poisonous.

Thousands of pounds are eaten all over the country, serving as a nutritious food, without causing any intestinal upset. It must be remembered, however, that some people may be allergic to this safe, nonpoisonous household mushroom.

This is in no way different from a person who is allergic to strawberries, carrots, eggs or fish. It is the allergic sensitivity that may produce intestinal symptoms with nausea, vomiting and diarrhea.

There are, however, a number of poisonous varieties of mushrooms. One of the most common ones is Amanita muscaria. These poisonous mushrooms contain a very toxic drug, muscarine, which can cause of all kinds of toxic symptoms.

Experts who have devoted their lives to the classification of mushrooms warn everybody that "a pretty little mushroom growing in a grassy glen" may be a highly poisonous kind which should be looked at and left strictly alone. There is no way of identifying these dangerous species unless you have had years of specialized training.

Opening lead — ten of hearts.

Most players find the role of declarer far more interesting than that of a defender, but, actually, the defender's role is generally harder to play.

For example, take this hand where the defense must be letter-perfect to stop declarer from making five diamonds.

Let's say West leads a heart which South wins with the king. Declarer draws two rounds of trumps, and then, in preparation for an endplay, clears the hearts — ending in his own hand.

He now leads a club, intending to play the seven from dummy if West follows low. This play assures the contract regardless of what East returns after he wins the seven. East will have to lead up to one of the A-Q's in dummy, or else play a heart and thus give declarer a ruff and discard.

But if West is on his toes, he will play the eight when South leads the club. This more or less forces declarer to finesse the queen, which East wins with the king. East leads back the jack of clubs, taken with the ace, and dummy now returns the seven of clubs in preparation for another possible endplay.

If East is careless enough to put on the ten, South makes certain of the contract by discarding a spade on the trick. This presents East with the choice of a fatal spade return, or yielding a ruff and discard which also hands declarer the contract.

But when East, foreseeing the danger of the ten play, ducks the seven, South ruffs and leads a spade. Again West must be careful not to follow low, for, if he does, South can play the eight and claim the contract.

When West inserts the nine, South is finished regardless of what he does. If he ducks, West plays another spade; if he finesesses the queen, East wins with the king and returns a spade to defeat the contract one trick.

A WORD FOR CASSIUS

Question:

When is a champ not a Question;

Answer:

When he fails the call of his country in time of need!

If Mr. Cassius Clay is so deeply interested in being the world's champion fighter why is the so called minister of the Muslims fighting the opportunity of putting up a real fight with his black and white brothers now laying down their lives in Viet Nam so he may continue with his ego building complex?

If Mahomet, as he calls himself, is in reality a minister, then why is he not putting full time in the spiritual world and building souls and bodies instead of tearing them down in an attempt to place more halos on his own head?

It will be many years before he can earn the respect of millions of Americans which he lost when fighting the draft call. He is no criterion. He is no exception. He is no idol except to those in the pugilistic realm who are capitalizing on a man's disloyalty to his country or they who would sooner see a fellow mortal battered into unconsciousness as a sporting event.

We owe a lot of credit to the draft board who said no to his petition for exemption or deferment. If the national board overrules the lower board decision, it is time to change that board.

If Mr. Clay is smart, a real man and wants to be a real hero and rebuild himself in the eyes of America, he will, like a real man, accept the call, go and fight, and, since he must die sometime it is far better to die with honor than live without it.

America does not need his financial contributions. America needs him, not his money.

If he is a minister, let him give spiritual aid to those in Asia who need it. Other young men in all walks of life, just getting out of school are being sent abroad.

Is Cassius any different? Absolutely not.

Is Uncle Sam going to bend to the wishes of a pugilist or will the U. S. decide itself as the general in command?

Those who would bring pressure to bear to force his exemption are little less than good citizens, in fact they are much worse than bad ones.

WELFARE'S RICH DIET

A few weeks ago on the Sunday afternoon forum the subject was discussed, "Is the Welfare Adequate for Berrien County?"

During the course of this discussion it was stated that more could be done in this area and more could be done for that need. Then the discussion went on as to how much was being paid for welfare in Berrien County.

The specialists on this panel weren't sure whether the amount was $5,000,000 or $8,000,000.

This is a lot of money, but to make it more meaningful, figures must be compared. Let's compare this with the figure for the produce sold on the Benton Harbor Fruit Market. According to Rink Keller, the total of all the produce sold during the 1966 season on the Benton Harbor market was $6,827,780.

When I think of how much money it costs to get all of this produce ready for the market and all the hard work involved and then it appears that the welfare in just our one county is more, it really is lucrative to be classed with the needy and underprivileged.

What incentive is there to earn one's living by the sweat of your brow? No wonder we as farmers are constantly being bombarded with "you can't plant this or that because there is no help available". Supposing all of us farmers take a powder?

A few years ago, such a discussion would have gotten into a definition of a "bum" and a "hobo", and drunkenness, sin, and riotous living. But not hearing any of these familiar guide posts was as frustrating and confusing as a dog, big or little, trying to find his favorite fire hydrant during the past snow storm.

Preview Of Next Century

One of the most publicized innovations in air travel was the opening of a heliport on top of the Pan Am Building in midtown Manhattan. As a visitor watches the big helicopters of New York Airways come and go with clocklike regularity carrying passengers and baggage to metropolitan air terminals, he has the feeling that he is witnessing a preview of the twenty-first century, which in truth he is.

As the world roaming jets fly higher and faster, their speed and utility will attract the patronage of millions of our earth-bound population. The day is not far distant when thousands of persons will disembark from just three or four intercontinental flights. In the course of a twenty-four hour period, the number of people arriving and departing at terminals will be the equivalent of the population of whole cities, and some way must be found to move them speedily and with a minimum of confusion from the airline terminals to their ultimate downtown destinations. Vertical lift aircraft such as helicopters operating out of central areas are becoming an absolute necessity.

The 1970's will see the supersonic transport in operation. It will fly London to New York in 2.5 hours. At present, it takes at least an hour to get to the airport at each end of the flight. Supersonic transport passengers would be spending 44 per cent of their total elapsed time on ground transportation. Obviously, this will be unacceptable to the travelers.

The Pan Am Building Heliport is the first transportation terminal to take full advantage of the air space around it, but this is just the beginning. Studies are going ahead on 500 mile-per-hour vertical take-off and landing planes, which will operate from rooftop areas. These aircraft will carry close to 100 passengers. They will soon become as much a part of our daily lives as the high-speed train, the expressways and other innovations in travel that will be taken for granted in the very near future.

Big League

A nation would seem to have achieved big-league status in nuclear arms development when people start stealing its secrets.

Communist China announced the other day that it had arrested two men on charges of atomic espionage. This could mean one of two things.

Either Peking really has some information worth stealing, or else Mao Tse-tung wants the world to think so and arranged the theft-and-arrest show.

No one can be more certain about this than about anything else that's happening in China today.

Benjamin Franklin modestly referred to himself as a printer; but he invented medical instruments, devised bifocal spectacles, introduced mineral fertilizers to America; invented the lightning rod, the Franklin Stove, and a type of harmonica; composed songs, published the first novel written in the United States, and founded fire insurance companies, hospitals, and the University of Pennsylvania.

HILL CLEARS UP QUESTION ON LIQUOR LAW

On The Grill

Sees No Conflict In Renewal Plan

S.J. City Manager, 'Aide' Address Kiwanis

By CHET NEWMAN
Staff Writer

The sale of the Whitcomb Hotel to the Michigan Conference of Baptists will not stop a liquor license in Block 4; the sale of two parcels of city land to Barlows Laundry-Cleaners was closed Tuesday; and housing inspections were passed by the city commission with the idea they are another service to the community.

These were the major revelations Tuesday from St. Joseph City Manager Leland L. Hill and Urban Renewal Director C. Thomas Daley.

They made the disclosures while "on the grill" of the St. Joseph Kiwanis Club in Elks club 541's dining room.

Hill was the scheduled speaker on the agenda, but he told the meeting, "It's more fun for you to needle me than for me to bore you with a speech." He referred to Daley as his "consultant."

He spoke about 10 minutes on the history of the commission-manager form of government, snow removal and urban renewal, then he turned the meeting in to a question-and-answer session.

The Kiwanians sounded like they had stayed up all night thinking of questions.

Hill said he was first contacted on the Whitcomb Hotel by an agent acting on behalf of the Baptists. The agent wanted to know the attitude of the community on the Baptists establishing an apartment building for the elderly in the Whitcomb.

"We helped them all we could and then directed them to others we thought might give them more information," said Hill. Later, Hill added, the city building inspection department received a letter from the Baptists asking what changes would be necessary to bring the Whitcomb within zoning regulations as an apartment building.

"That's all I know about it," said the manager. Would the purchase of the Whitcomb by the church cause it to be dropped from the tax rolls? asked a Kiwanian. "I haven't gotten a legal opinion, but I don't think their purchase of it would affect anything," was the answer.

Hill said he was sure some of the audience was wondering about the status of a liquor license in the vicinity of the hotel if it were owned by a church. He said he believed it would not affect the issuance of a license, even if a chapel were put in the hotel.

Mar-Kay Development Corp., which operates the Holiday Inn in Benton township, has proposed a motel restaurant and banquet facility for Block 4. Block 4 is bounded by Main, Ship, State and Port streets.

OTHERS INTERESTED Hill said several other groups are also interested in the block, but have not made their plans public. All bids on the key block will be considered by the city commission at its April 10 meeting.

State law forbids issuing a liquor license within 500 feet of a church. Hill said he thinks a church is defined as a regularly established place where religious services are conducted. He doubted a chapel in an apartment building would fit the definition.

The same applies to taxation, Hill said. He cited the example of a house once owned by a Methodist church in the city. It had been used as a parsonage, but was divided and half of it rented out. Half of the house was put on the tax rolls in that case, said the manager.

How much is the vacant urban renewal land costing the city in taxes? was another question. The total loss of all buildings and land amounts to $13,456 a year was the answer.

COMPENSATION However, Hill added, the development of any single block of the urban renewal area will cover a year's loss in its first year of operation.

"This doesn't mean the cumulative loss will be covered in one year, he cautioned; but the projected income of the area for

Old Plates Just Won't Get Past

Police Write 17 Tickets In Twin Cities Area

Some Twin Cities area motorists will pay an additional cost in connection with their 1967 license plates.

Police agencies reported 17 tickets had been issued up to 8 a.m. today for failure to have 1967 plates which were required at midnight. Benton Harbor police wrote 14 tickets. St. Joseph and Benton township police and the Berrien sheriff's department each issued one.

The driver cited by Benton police was a month delinquent. He had California plates that expired Feb. 1, officers said.

Police cars and certain other government-owned vehicles did not change plates. They operate with five-year tags that were acquired last year.

It will be one of 24 in larger city and county police agencies throughout the state. ### TESTING EQUIPMENT

Berrien Sheriff's Department Linked To Statewide Network

By KEITH WOOD
Staff Writer

Tests are scheduled today for the newly installed law enforcement information network teletypewriter at the Berrien county sheriff's office.

The unit, one of 24 installed this week in larger sheriff's departments and city police stations throughout Michigan, is expected to begin actual operation April 1. These units, along with 10 others in state police posts, will be linked with a computer at state police headquarters in East Lansing.

The system will provide almost instant information on wanted persons, missing automobiles, and driver's license records. Each of the teletype-writer inquiry stations, such as the one in Berrien county, will serve all other police agencies in the area.

The units not only provide communications with the central computer, but can be used to communicate with individual police agencies in other parts of the state.

Selection of area stations where units were installed was based on size, volume of activity and number of shift operations. Announcement of Berrien county's being chosen as one of the agencies to get a unit was made last summer, shortly after funds were appropriated for the program. Complete details of the system were given in a story carried at that time by this newspaper. Berrien County Sheriff Henry Griese said he and Undersheriff Joe Howard will attend a network orientation meeting in Lansing March 15. Two members of the department will then be designated to attend a special operation instruction session March 20.

Truck Is Looted

James Fike, 214 Elvern drive, told Benton township police Tuesday a small portable radio, nylon jacket and searchlight were taken from this truck parked at home sometime the night before.

Water Safety Instructors' Course Opens

Phase I of the water safety instructor's course will begin this evening at 8 p.m. at the St. Joseph high school pool, according to the Berrien County chapter, American Red Cross.

Holders of current senior life saving certificates are eligible to enroll if the holder has attained the age of 18.

Phase II, the final part of the instructor's course will start Monday, April 24 and continue through April 27. Three hours of instruction will be given each of these nights.

Only cost to participants will be a pool fee.

Finalists For Merit Scholarship

Two Seniors At B. H. High

Two Benton Harbor high school seniors, Lynn M. Wendt and David G. Titman, are among 2,300 of the finalists in National Merit Scholarship competition.

The finalists represent approximately the top one-half of one per cent of the nation's 1967 graduating high school seniors. About 2,300 of the finalists will be selected as scholarship winners to be announced in May.

Miss Wendt, Titman and the other finalists have earned certificates of merit for high rankings in the competition.

Miss Wendt is the daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Wendt, of 402 Gary avenue, Fairplain. Her school activities include playing the clarinet in the band, Y-Teen, Fu-

Sodus Twp. Hears Plan For Sewer

Can Be Part Of M-139 Widening

SODUS — The Sodus township board last night heard of plans to install a storm sewer along M-139 when that roadway is widened by the Michigan Highway department.

Presenting plans at the township meeting were R.W. Petrie and Charles Barger of the R.W. Petrie and Associates engineering firm of Benton Harbor.

Petrie said the road and drainage project is to start in late summer or early autumn. It affects a large portion of Benton township property and the extreme northwest corner of Sodus township.

The engineer said overall plans call for widening M-139 from Main street south in Benton Harbor to I-94 in Sodus and Benton township.

In other business, the township board voted to divide delinquent taxes collected through December. The Benton Harbor school district received $3,968. Eau Claire schools received $983 and River school received $325. The township received $419.

Clerk Carroll Cox reported the township board hopes to conclude the year's business at its March 14 meeting. Settlement day was set for March 21.

VARIETY SHOW THURSDAY: All ready to go is the 16-piece Showtime stage band which will perform at the Thursday and Friday March 2 and 3, Variety show in St. Joseph high school auditorium. Originally scheduled for last weekend but postponed because of the weather, the production, "Showtime '67—A Splash of Variety," will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday, March 2, with the original Saturday ticket holders to be admitted then. The performance Friday, March 3, when the original Friday tickets will be honored, will be at an earlier time—7:30 p.m. to enable those attending the show to attend the Parents dance scheduled later that evening in the cafeteria. RAMSEY CLARK

LBJ Taps Tom Clark For Attorney General

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nomination of Ramsey Clark as attorney general will give President Johnson a Supreme Court vacancy to fill — the result of a unique family double-play.

After Johnson promoted Clark to the vacancy Tuesday, Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark, the nominee's father, said he'll retire by midyear to avoid any conflict of interest.

Early Senate approval of the younger Clark's appointment is anticipated. Three senators heartily endorsed the nomination, with Sen. Edward M. Kenedy, D-Mass., calling it "one of the finest any president has ever made."

Justice Clark, 67, a 17-year veteran of the high court bench, said he'll review the court's docket "for any possible conflict of interests that arise during the remainder of the term" and then decide when to retire. The court term is scheduled to end in June.

The justice's retirement would give Johnson his second Supreme Court appointment. Clark was appointed by President Harry S. Truman.

Ramsey Clark, 39, has been acting attorney general since last October when Nicholas Katzenbach resigned to become undersecretary of state.

He'll go before the Senate Judiciary committee Thursday for what is expected to be a brief re-examination of his qualifications. He previously received committee and Senate approval for appointments as assistant attorney general and deputy attorney general.

Clark conducted an informal news conference following announcement of his nomination with the same deference — almost shyness — that has marked his conduct in public office.

He greeted newsmen at the door of his fourth floor Justice Department office, accepting congratulations with a smile.

When the newsmen were assembled, Clark headed for his desk, but then decided on a favorite corner near a window: "I always sit in this corner — I feel safer here," he explained.

Then he sprawled in a chair, propped his foot on a wastebasket and casually fielded questions for 30 minutes.

Clark, who never uses his first name, William, would be the eighth youngest of the nation's 66 attorneys general, assuming he is confirmed by the Senate.

During the four and a half months he was acting attorney general, Clark remained in his deputy attorney general's office rather than move into the plush, Oriental-carpeted, oak-paneled attorney general's office on the fifth floor.

Although Clark presided over the Justice Department during some trying moments, he carefully avoided controversy. He remained as far as possible out of the line of fire in the wire-tap controversy between Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, even though technically Clark is Hoover's boss.

Clark entered the department in 1961 as assistant attorney general in charge of the Lands Division, where he established a unique reputation. He saved $300,000 of the division's $3.5 million annual budget and, for the 1965 fiscal year, sought a $200,000 budget cut.

Colorful Era Of Mail Trains Ends In Area

LAST PICKUP: Harbert Postmaster David O'Donnohue looks on as postal employee Tom Waller hangs a mail sack on the pick-up post for the last time along the Chesapeake and Ohio tracks in Harbert. Friday marked the end of C&O mail delivery. Mail had been picked up and delivered by train at Harbert since 1889. (Staff photo)

Snatching
Bags At Full SpeedServed Coloma,
Harbert, Fennville

Each day the faithful mailman would put up the mail pouch on the special holder alongside the railroad tracks.

A train would come roaring by, and without even slowing, snatch the mail pouch off the rack and drop off a sack or two of mail.

That is how it used to be.

The end of an interesting era of mail delivery came last week when the U.S. Postal Department discontinued operation of railroad post office cars between Grand Rapids and Chicago on the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad.

Mail sack deliveries are now made by trucks, more efficient but less interesting.

POSTAL EMPLOYEES

The change means much for at least three area men. Postal employee Tom Waller has been responsible for the mail setup along the tracks at Harbert, Martin Crowner at Fennville and Floyd Wallace at Coloma.

"With the train pickup mail, service to Chicago was superb, but even without it service is still good," said David O'Donnohue, postmaster at Harbert.

O'Donnohue said the mail sacks had been scooped up by trains at Harbert since 1889. There used to be six trains a day delivering mail but in recent years service dwindled to one train a day.

The decline in mail service by trains has coincided with the decline in the trains' passenger service. Railroads now find it more profitable to concentrate on freight and not bother with mail and passenger service.

RECALLS OLD DAYS

Wallace, the Coloma station chief, recalls when six trains used to stop each day in Coloma, carrying mail as well as passengers. "Two of them were milk trains because they stopped along the route to pick up milk cans from farmers," he said. "Because of this and because they could be flagged down by people wanting on as passengers, the trains were seldom on schedule."

Wallace has been on duty at the Coloma depot since 1918.

It is said at Fennville that "You could set your watch by Martin Crowner," referring to his punctuality in picking up the mail at the C&O station at Fennville, a job he has held since 1948.

DR. EDWIN TERWILLIGER

SOUTH HAVEN—Dr. Edwin Terwilliger announced yesterday he was closing his office for "an indefinite period" because of physical disability.

The 58-year-old physician and surgeon said he saw his last patient Tuesday afternoon. He said that his future return to the practice of medicine will depend on whether his physical condition improves.

LONG SERVICE

Dr. Terwilliger has been practicing medicine in South Haven since coming here in September, 1936. He is a member of the South Haven Community Hospital Authority board of directors, holds the rank of colonel of the Air Force Reserve and is a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons.

He said he will continue to serve as a member of the hospital board.

Dr. Terwilliger is known throughout southwestern Michigan for his hobby of growing orchids. He and his son-in-law, Harold Larsen, operate and manage Black River Orchids farm in South Haven township.

The car, troopers said, adding the vehicle was so charred they are unable to tell where the fire started.

Gobles School Bonds
OK'd By State Group

GOBLES—The Michigan Municipal Finance commission has approved a $745,000 bond issue for school construction at Gobles. The bond issue was approved by voters last fall. The money will be used for a $240,000 addition to the elementary school, a $155,000 addition to the high school, $46,000 worth of remodeling for the high school, $47,000 worth of furniture and equipment for the two new additions and creation of a new athletic field at a cost of $35,000. Some $150,000 will be used to refinance existing bonds on the elementary school which was built in 1960. Planning fees, advertising for bids and miscellaneous costs total $41,000.

Good Roads Group Puts
On PressureWants Highway
Funds Restored

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Michigan delegation is in Washington to protest a $60 million cutback in federal road funds allocated for the state.

The Michigan Good Roads Federation said more than 50 representatives from the federation, State Highway Department and public and private interests planned to attend.

The group scheduled a breakfast meeting with Michigan's congressional delegation.

J. M. Telford, association president, said the group hopes to "generate enough pressure to cause the President to restore these funds immediately."

Telford said an announcement of a partial restoration of highway funds by Secretary of Transportation Alan Boyd still leaves Michigan in a critical roadway financial situation.

LIMITED USE

The $5 million restored, Telford said, can be used only for engineering and purchase of right of way and does not provide for any actual new construction.

"There are no definite plans to put highway funds back on schedule," Telford said. "The longer we delay construction, the less we will be able to buy for the dollar and the more it will cost Michigan taxpayers."

FENNVILLE — The music department of the Fennville schools will present a mid-winter concert Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Anna Michen auditorium.

The concert will feature the junior and senior high school bands and the girls' ensemble under the direction of William Armstrong.

FCC Ruling
Allows For
8 StationsTime, Weather
And FM Radio
Also PlannedBy JIM DONAHUE
South Haven Bureau

SOUTH HAVEN—A decision by the Federal Communications Commission has ended a year-long delay in construction of a cable television system for South Haven by General Telephone & Electronics Communications, Inc.

GT&E's local Cable TV manager Clare Bristol today said the FCC has issued a decision permitting the South Haven community antenna television system (CATV) to carry the programs of five stations in Chicago, South Bend and Grand Rapids, in addition to the planned programming of three other area stations.

Construction on the CATV cable system was halted last spring after the FCC ruled against the duplication of programs that would have resulted from an original planned package of seven TV channels.

The FCC decision, according to Bristol, was in response to a petition filed by GT&E Communications requesting a waiver of an FCC rule covering transmission of programs received from distant television stations.

The decision will allow the transmission of Channel 9, Chicago (WGN); Channel 32, Chicago (WFLD); Channel 16, South Bend (WNUD); Channel 28, South Bend (WWSV) and Channel 13, Grand Rapids (WZZM).

Other stations to be transmitted will include Channel 8, Grand Rapids (WOOD); Channel 3, Kalamazoo (WKZO); and Channel 22, South Bend (WSBT).

Bristol said that in addition, the CATV customers will have two channels devoted respectively to time and weather information and FM radio reception.

He said that construction work on the system will resume immediately and that it is expected that applicants for Cable TV will have service in their homes by this summer.

South Haven Cable TV has been granted an option to purchase property one and one-half miles east of the city limits on Phoenix street for construction of a 300-foot tower and a building for housing electronics equipment.

Bristol explained that CATV is a community-wide system which receives television signals at a strategically-located tower and then transmits these signals to television receivers in subscribers' homes over a specially-designed coaxial cable system.

In addition to the South Haven system, GT&E Communications has 34 other CATV franchises in Michigan, Pennsylvania, Georgia, Washington, Texas, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin.

PTA HEARS PANEL

'Why Do People Riot?'
Question Close To HomeBy HOWARD HOLMES
Staff Writer

COLOMA—Defining riots is like several blind men trying to describe an elephant from touching various parts of its body—yet four not-so-blind men last night, from personal experience, came up with these answers why riots do happen:

"When you have exhausted all legal means of protesting—boycotting, marching, picketing—you resort to the next means," said Gene McFadden, director of community education, Benton Harbor.

"People feel a need for belonging and a need for recognition by any means," said Robert Roth, Berrien county juvenile office social worker. "A crowd gives the feeling of security—and all that is needed to start a riot is an agitator."

"People express themselves in rioting," said George Welch, co-chairman of the Community Relations Advisory Board (CRAB), "and because of the lack of certain restraining forces in our society, it becomes an uncontrollable means of expression."

NEGRO DISCONTENT
The Negro has made up his mind that he no longer has to apologize for being a Negro, or to accept things as they are," said the Rev. Ellis Hull, assistant pastor of the Pilgrim Rest Baptist church and co-chairman of CRAB. "And as an American citizen, he has certain rights which he is willing to stand up for."

The four, in speaking before about 40 people attending a Berrien County PTA council meeting at the Coloma elementary school building, gave their impressions from socio-economic, racial and psychological viewpoints gained in experience with riots.

Much of the panel's discussion centered on racial riots because of general interest stemming from Benton Harbor's riot last September. And because two of the panel members were Negroes, the audience gained enlightenment on the Negro's viewpoint.

The panel also branched on subjects causing riots that ranged from substandard education to an unstable home life and lack of authority by police to enforce the law, to revamping a sick society with positive reorientation beginning at birth.

People test to see how far they can go with the law, Welch said. Roth added that the dictionary defines rioting as any two or more persons getting together to protest—yet only one person was brought into the juvenile office following September's riot.

LACK OF EDUCATION
When the question of "why riots?" turned to education,

Roth also pointed out that some "so-called" sophomores and juniors came into his office who can't read Shakespeare. "They can't even read!" he declared.

The panel suggested that riots can be prevented by people staying as far away as possible from potential riot crowds; by law agencies remaining informed on actions of potential agitators; stronger law enforcement; and differences being solved at a conference table and not with a knife.

In other business during the meeting, unopposed officers candidates were elected unanimously. They include: Mrs. Nylor Hartwig, Coloma, president; Mrs. Westley Harper, Lakeshore, first vice president; John Glassman, Eau Claire, second vice president; Donald Reed, Buchanan, teacher vice president; Earl Paustian, Berrien Springs, father vice president; Mrs. Allen Boyd, New Troy, secretary; Mrs. Delos Drucker, Berrien Springs, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Nicholas Menser, Lakeshore, treasurer; and Mrs. Leo Rennhack, Baroda, historian.

The by-laws were amended so that the officers will meet a month prior to the council meeting rather than two weeks before, to give them sufficient time to prepare for the council meeting. The next council meeting will be April 27 at Baroda.

Urban Renewal Basic Need In Crime Fight--Hutchinson

By EDWARD HUTCHINSON
Fourth District Congressman

WASHINGTON—The report of the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and the Administration of Justice released last week was entitled "The Challenge of Crime in a Free Society."

It might better have been called "The Challenge of Crime in an Urbanized Society." All of the report's facts, figures and graphs serve to underline the abrasive "togetherness" of life in a large city that provides an ideal environment for crime.

Better paid, more efficient

C&O Wants To Eliminate Two Lines

WASHINGTON (AP) — An official for the Chesapeake & Ohio and Baltimore & Ohio railroads was questioned before an Interstate Commerce Commission examiner today on figures showing a passenger loss in recent years by the C&O.

The company, seeking authorization to discontinue two of its main line trains, says it can save $2.2 million annually by dropping them.

Paul H. Reistrup, director of passenger services for the affiliated railroads, said this loss is only part of a continuing general loss the road has been suffering over a period of years in passenger service.

William B. Peer, counsel for the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, sought introduction into the record of C&O passenger figures for 1966.

Peer suggested the 1966 figures "might give a quite different picture of passenger travel" on the C&O.

Reistrup submitted figures showing a drop from 675,000 to 650,000 in passengers between 1964 and 1965.

The trains the C&O wants to discontinue are the "Sportsman" and fast flying "Virginian" running between Washington and Cincinnati.

Feeder service to the two trains between Portsmouth and Charlottesville, Va., and between Ashland, Ky., and Detroit, also would be discontinued under the C&O proposal.

Gas Odor Shuts Down 3 Schools

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Alarmed by a strong smell of gas, authorities ordered schools, homes, factories and retail stores in a 25-mile-long area west of the city evacuated today.

At least three schools — Lee, Godwin, and Kelloggsville — closed down and heating plants were shut off in nine of 14 schools in the Wyoming District for about half an hour.

Rogers Plaza, a shopping center in southwest Grand Rapids, was cleared of shoppers for a time.

The gas was first thought to be from a leaking main but Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. said it was caused from a overdose of an odorant which found its way into a 16-inch pipeline that distributes gas to the southwest and southeast suburbs of Grand Rapids.

Wallace Chamberlain, district manager for Michigan Consolidated, said the gas was nontoxic and that residents had nothing to fear. He explained a liquid odorant is added to the natural gas, which otherwise is odorless, at one of the gas company's distribution points in Ottawa County's Georgetown Township near Hudsonville west of Grand Rapids.

The odorant normally burns off and is not detected in homes. Doors and windows in a number of homes were wide open most of the morning despite temperatures in the 20s.

Officers Named In Sawyer

SAWYER — R.J. Wood was elected chairman of the Christian United Church of Christ council at the recent annual meeting of the congregation. Also elected as officers for 1967 were:

Mrs. Ada Brodbeck, council vice chairman; Joseph Shermak, church clerk; Mrs. Harriet Smith, treasurer; Herbert Lodge, financial secretary; Adrian Van Ginhoven, trustee; James Culverhouse and Charles Wright, deacons; Mrs. Doris Crayford and Mrs. Charles Krbusicky, deaconesses; Mrs. Thomas Horon, Mrs. Lodge and Mrs. Rex Westhauser, board of Christian education, and Mrs. Adrian Van Ginhoven, building committee chairman.

police; more resourceful correctional methods; better housing and schools are some of the commission's remedies, admittedly, all of these things would help to reduce and control crime.

But the commission's report skirts a more obvious answer, even though all of its conclusions point to it.

BASIC NEED

The basic need is not for urban renewal, but for urban dispersal.

The incidence of crime is three times greater in cities than in rural areas. According to the commission, city dwellers are the victims of 1,800 crimes per 100,000 population in a year. The suburban rate is 1,200 while the rural rate is 616.9.

Of the 2,780,015 crimes indexed by the commission in 1965, more than two million were committed in cities, a half million in the suburbs and 170,000 in rural areas.

Why this wide gap between the incidence of crime in cities and rural areas? One reason offered by the commission is because the country man is an individual. He is conspicuous, under observation by his neighbors and observing them in turn. The old complaint that the trouble with small-town living is that "everybody knows your business" thus becomes a plus, rather than a minus.

CITY MAN LOST

On the other hand, the city man is almost invariably lost in the crowd. As the report points out, "he rubs constantly, abrasively and impersonally against other people." It is easy for him to fall into resentment. Unnoticed and unrespected, his hopes unfulfilled, he gets the feeling he is living in a jungle where force and cunning are the only means of survival.

According to recent surveys in two large American cities, 43 per cent stayed off the streets at night, 35 per cent would not speak to strangers, 21 per cent wanted to move from their neighborhoods. The reason was fear of crime and violence. And, according to the commission's report, this fear was more than justified. Odds of 50 to 1 don't look so long when your own life and property are at stake.

Thus, we are paying one of the prices of the technological revolution of the past two decades. The challenge of the 70's will be the restoration of man's individuality in a computerized society.

Muhammed Ali And Lent

By DAVID POLING

A lot of people smirked when heavyweight champion Cassius Clay changed his name to Muhammad Ali. Not many laughed, however, when he applied for draft deferment as a minister of the Black Muslim religion.

Ringside theologians later admitted that his punch was as big as his mouth but no one

It really is no longer a big deal for Catholics and Protestants to share services and mutual projects. What would be refreshing, during the Lenten season, would be a personal effort on your part to attend, listen to, consider the beliefs and convictions of those not your own.

Frankly, I believe that considerable spiritual strength would be gained if Presbyterians would look in on a Christian Science Reading Room, if Roman Catholics attended a Quaker meeting, or if Mormons went to an Episcopal evensong.

Jesus Christ spoke of an abundant life. This promise is fulfilled in many ways. Bobby Richardson has his approach, Cardinal Cushing another, and Muhammad Ali, that of the Black Muslims. When honest discussion and inquiry abound, Lent is honored through spiritual renewal.

(NEXT: Elizabeth Taylor and the Meaning of Lent)

The Meaning of Lent

on the sports page gave a second thought to his beliefs. Same with the religion page.

Perhaps the Christian should ask at this point if the ecumenical discussion club is large enough to have guests who radically differ from the regular membership.
